Presentation of your program

For all the bargain hunters, lovers of pretty little things, photography addicts, the curious or the ones eager for encounters; dive into the biggest and oldest international permanent flea market, just right for you. A tour in Le Marché aux Puces, a buzzing and unique universe; with surprises in store at every corner.

From markets to stalls, your guide will tell you all about this unique market specializing in vintage goods. Unlike any other market in the world, it accommodates 2,000 stallholders, including 1,300 antique dealers and bric-à-brac traders who come every weekend to supply the market with goods collected or bargained all around France. Thanks to this constant resupplying, Le Marché aux Puces is also fairly known as "the attic of the world". Explore this magical place, where you can find a little bit of everything; from daily articles to top of the range antiquities not forgetting interior design and other bizarre items.

Your tour will start with an introduction over a drink at La Recyclerie, an old train station converted into a trendy café. From there we will take you backstage. This atypical location will make you go back in time and dive into the heart of the 19th century, when Le Marché aux Puces was born.

With this lively experience, you will learn how to bargain for rare items, encounter local heroes who will share their passion for this place and their trade, and you will eventually hear the stories that made their mark on Le Marché aux Puces.
