A short trip on the highway to exit Paris (only 40 km) and we quickly cut across into the fields and cuter roads.

Our first stop is at a restaurant .

You can imagine how we're feeling now - happy!

We head off to Reims... criss-crossing the Champagne vineyards on our way. After a quick nod to Reims cathedral, proudly fronted by a statue of the Emperor Charlemagne, we make our way to the extraordinary Pommery cellars. This is awesome.

We sleep in a pretty and very comfortable hotel in Reims.

Day 2 : L'Oise and Normandy

After a hearty breakfast and feeling sad about leaving this charming hotel and endearing city of Reims....

We go West to the sea ...

We're taken aback by the bucolic and rustic scenery of the Vexin region with a stop at Pierrefond, a French village packed with medieval history ...

We close in on the Somme Bay, one of the most beautiful bays and bird sanctuaries in Europe... If we're in luck, we'll get a glimpse of the famous and lovable seal colony.

We finally get a chance to take off our boots and dip our feet into the invigorating sea water.

We finish the day dining at a secret location with an unforgettable seafood platter ... We might be catching a train... all will be explained.

We sleep in an adorable hotel, next to Tréport.

Day 3 : Normandy, Etretat, Deauville, Trouville

We head firmly South taking a wonderful road to the Haute Normandie and its seaside resorts... The views of the towering chalk cliffs are stunning.

A selfie on the cliffs of Etretat is a must-do as a souvenir of this majestic location. We don't spend a lot of time here as it's always swarming with people but a sweet crêpe would not go amiss...

We arrive at the adorable seaside town of Trouville, with its chocolate-box timber-framed houses and dine in a delightful restaurant. We then go on to an equally delightful hotel, greeted by its well-known owner ... We take a look at the world-famous boards of Deauville ... and it's Casino too ...

Day 4 : Normandy Omaha Beach, Utha Beach to Mont St michel

Emotions are running high ... We make an early start to ride alongside the beaches of the American D-day landings in 1944 ... Omaha Beach, Utah Beach ... These sites, where many lives were lost, have changed the face of the world and France... in stark contrast to the current day serenity and beauty emanated from these places of remembrance.

We then head straight off to a city which is extraordinary, not only for its unique architecture, but also its flamboyant nature and characteristic atmosphere ... Saint-Malo, the city of pirates awaits you for a magical stop. Watch out for the seagulls eyeing up your dessert...

And the day is not over yet as another rich experience lies ahead in "the wonder of the West": Mont-Saint-Michel. An incredible mount rising from the sea and world heritage site.

Day 5 : Mont St Michel

Admiring the early morning light on the Mont-Saint-Michel (it's hard to get enough of it), we reticently leave for the le Mans race car track ...

This is a great day out on the bike crossing forests, hidden villages and wonderful scenery ... the road unwinds ahead and the gentle vibrations bring that contented feeling.

We make an inevitable stop at the 24H du Mans museum and turn into motor sport enthusiasts at the sight of all these race cars, the stories, the race and men behind this myth. We are drawn to all these old cars...

A warm and lively night is lined up in an extraordinary restaurant where the rillettes du Mans and the boudins blancs au foie gras will delight all taste buds.

This is why we love France: for its different culinary specialties, winning us over everywhere we go.

Day 6 : Road to Versailles

After a good night's sleep ...

It's the last but one day of the road trip and we're off to discover one of the most beautiful chateau's in the world ... Versailles in all its glory...

Depending on the weather and how we feel, we could either take a look around the park, have a water fight in the boats of the "canal" or visit the hall of mirrors - then again, we could do all 3 ...

Versailles is a magical place, loaded with history and pomp that France Moto is very familiar with. We'll take you into places that are secret and hidden away from the other tourists...

Gala dinner for our last evening in a hotel not far from the chateau.

Day 7 : Return to Paris

Last morning Relaxed day with a motorcycle tour in Paris. We will greet the Eiffel tower, the Champs Elysées, the Concorde, the Louvre museum, Montmartre and the Sacré Coeur, the Pont des Arts, the Pont Neuf, the Tuileries, the Pantheon ...

What a pleasure to ride and visit Paris on a motorcycle, a Sunday without the traditional traffic jams.

And here comes the fateful hour when it is necessary to return the motorbikes ...
